Woman's Death In Lake Probed

Inquest in Drowning At Milford Today; Gash On Mrs. Mary Kruppa's Face

MILFORD, Del., July 30.—Coroner Howard E. Hardesty today will conduct an inquest in the drowning of Mrs. Mary Kruppa, 50 years old, who was found dead in shallow water of Silver Lake with a gash across the face after being missed from her home yesterday.

The body, face downward in only about two feet of water was found about 8:30 o'clock last night by Policeman Merrill Shiffler, who had started a search after the woman's husband, Alex Kruppa, became alarmed at her absence since noon.

Kruppa said his wife had been in ill health for some time but that police he knew no reason for her to take her life. He expressed the opinion that the woman while walking along the bank fell in a faint and drowned in the water, her face hitting a sharp stone, accounting for the gash. The nose also showed evidence of profuse bleeding.

Joseph E. Lofland, funeral director, who took charge of the body, said that he could find no evidence of foul play.

Several persons told police they had seen Mrs. Kruppa in the vicinity of Silver Lake early in the afternoon. She had been in the habit of taking long walks, Mr. Kruppa said, and he did not take account of her absence until she failed to return home for the evening meal.

Mrs. Kruppa's only survivor is her husband.

Many Changes in 4 of 15 Surviving Sussex Co. Camps

Fried Chicken, Butter Beans, However, Due to Outlive Them All as Menu; Shifting Crowds Observed, Many Stay Awhile, and Run Off to Resort

GEORGETOWN, Del., July 30.—(Special)—While the four camp-meetings that have survived the 15 that once operated in Sussex County haven't exactly gone streamline in this modern day, changes in facilities and customs in at least three of them, affect almost everything but the popular menu of fried chicken, lima beans, sugar corn, and watermelon.

This has been a standard menu for many decades in these quaint religious villages, and just now with the campmeeting season at its height, the consumption of these delicacies is at its peak.

Camps have been midsummer feed institutions on the Delmarva for more than a century. However, good highways and automobiles have detracted somewhat from the camps of present day as compared with those of yesteryear. Larger crowds are in attendance during the evenings and on Sundays but almost hourly there is a steady stream. Hundreds will flock to a camp, remain an hour or so and go on to some resort. In "horse and buggy" days they came early and stayed late.

In the past those living at a distance would visit the camp one time during the 10 days they were over, with excellent roads and automobiles, it is only a few minutes' ride to a tented spot 10 miles away.

Crowds Are Bigger

Considering the crowds, they are greater than ever before, but as to religious spirit it seems to be declining. The Rev. M. E. Church will leave next Monday on vacation. Church services will be suspended until Aug 29 when the pastor will return.

Historic Zion Camp which closed in 1919, was operated for more than 85 years and is considered one of the first to be held in the eastern part of the country.

Present day campmeeting grounds have the same appearance as they had 50 or 75 years ago, except that old-time firestands, upon which light-wood knots have given way to electric lights in most instances. Though even today on some of the campgrounds old-time firestands may be found. Tents and cottages have been largely supplanted and more comfortable.

As this is an "off-year" in politics in Delaware, political discussion will be non-existent, the spotlight on the activities of the grounds as much so as it would if it were election year.

15 Camps Once Flourished

Within the past 30 years, 15 camps were conducted in Sussex County alone, and throughout the Peninsula about 40. These were conducted during that period the following: Zion, Mt. Olivet, Johnsons, Peppers near Georgetown; Lavinia near Milton; Lambs near Bridgeville; Zoar near Millsboro and Harbeson; Carey's, between Millsboro and Gumboro; Tyndall's, between Georgetown and Lewes; Wesley, near Gumboro; Mt. Sound, near Williamsville; Penwick Island, at Penwick Island; Delmarva, also known as Moore's and later as Laurel—Bethel, between Seaford and Laurel; James, a mile south from Georgetown; Burton's in the Indian River district; Rehoboth, at Rehoboth Beach.

Rehoboth Started As Camp

The popular Rehoboth Beach resort was the outgrowth of a camp-meeting established there several years ago by the Rehoboth Camp-meeting Association under auspices of the Wilmington M. E. Conference. At the beginning it was considered a recreational place for ministers.

Only four of the 15 camps operated many years ago are now in existence in lower Delaware—Carey's, James, Delmarva, and Laurel.

James Camp, only miles from here, opens on Saturday under direction of the Rev. O. T. Baynard, pastor of Grace M. E. Church of Blades. The McKinley Musical Messengers will have charge of the service.

The most popular and largest camp on the Peninsula is Delmarva, located near Laurel. It will open on Aug. 8 and continue until Aug. 24. This year it will be in charge of the blind radio evangelist, the Rev. Homer Grace, Pastor of Pulaski Ave. which will have with him an orchestra of six or seven young people and a choir leader.

Carey's is Old Timer

Carey's Camp between Millsboro and Gumboro, is one of the most widely known of the Peninsula camps for a display of religious fervor. It is more like the camps of old days. Even the old-time firestands are used. The services are along the evangelistic order, sponsaneous prayers, shouting and songs and hymns without musical accompaniment. It will open on Aug. 14 and continue for ten days, under the direction of the Rev. L. E. Wimbrow of Millsboro.

Alleged Rioter Freed on Bail

One of Pair Held in Strike Violence at Cambridge Released on $300 Bond

CAMBRIDGE, Md., July 30 (AP).—One man secured his release on bond of $300 yesterday on charges of inciting to riot during the recent strike at the Phillips Packing Company plants here.

Another man, Lonnie Nealan, one of the leaders of the strike, was still held on similar charges.

Police meanwhile sought a third man for whom an incitement warrant was sworn out. Police said none of the men would be given bond until the third one was caught.

Swears Out Warrants

Albert Kern, owner of a bus line swore out warrants for the three men. The charges were based on Edward Kern said he received after a bus was stoned near one of the strike-closed plants early this week.

State's Attorney J. Gorman Hill said that the man still sought was not an employe of the plant before the strike. He said the men would be held for action of the grand jury, but that he would not oppose their release on bond.

Says Bus Was Stoned

Hill said that Kern's bus was stoned without warning one day before the striking workers were ordered to return to one of the plants the following day, he said, the operator of the bus was threatened with violence if he continued the line, and efforts were made to stop the bus.

Hill said the bus company was not involved with the packing company. Nealan and Richard Phillips, the men released on bond earlier yesterday, were arrested on the streets and taken to jail. Hill said they had not returned to work after the strike.

The company has asked the city police department for the $63,000 which it said represented damage to buses it suffered during the strike.

P. R. R. Asked for Tract For Salisbury By-Pass

SALISBURY, Md., July 30.—The Chamber of Commerce, following a public meeting has sent a letter to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, asking that it cooperate in making possible a right-of-way through its property so that consideration of the proposed Salisbury by-pass (relocation of U. S. Highway 13) might be brought about at the earliest possible moment.

The action was taken following a meeting of the Chamber by Mayor Alfred T. Truitt, that the railroad company had signified its willingness to grant the right-of-way providing the mayor and council would consent to the closing of the East Locust and East Vine streets crossings in South Salisbury.

Shrinking Man Recovers, Praises Gland Operation

MINNEAPOLIS, July 30 (AP).—Hans Nelson, who shrank 10 inches in height in five years, today credited a gland operation with saving his life and putting him on top of the world.

"I have gained strength, he said, eating "anything," taking automobile trips, and enjoying life. He said he didn't even know he had been afflicted.

Operation Two Years Ago

Two years ago surgeons removed half of his parathyroid glands in an effort to stop the de-calcification of his bones that reduced his stature. He had been shrinking for 10 years until he was a stooped man of five feet.

Nelson still is five feet tall but said he was growing stronger "every day." "As far as my life was concerned," Nelson said, "I figured I was gone. I made a try though, and I'm glad I did. This has been the most wonderful summer since I have been sick."

Off Calcium Diet

Off his earlier calcium diet, Nelson now eats regular meals. Dr. Richard Johnson of University of Minnesota Hospital, who handled the case, insists on a quart of milk a day and lots of vitamins A and D to promote bone growth.

Dr. Johnson said he was convinced Nelson's case was an example of osteo-malacia, or softening of the bone over-activity of the parathyroid glands which control mineralization of the bones, draing the calcium and other materials from the bone into the bloodstream.

Negro Ends His Life With Gun On Sussex Farm

Snaps Trigger With Poker After Writing Wife Note; Stray Mule Killed by Car

SEAFORD, Del., July 30.—(Special)—Albert Simmons, Negro farmer, 32 years old, residing on the George Carey farm on the Cannon-Georgetown state highway, was found shot to death Thursday morning in the yard of his home by some small boys who informed Mr. Carey. Dr. G. Mervin Phillipsville, was summoned, and pronounced the man dead. Authorities probing the case concluded the Negro shot himself in the breast by leaning the gun against a piece of furniture in the kitchen of his home, snapping the trigger with a stove poker and then staggering out into the yard where he fell dead.

He left a note bidding relatives at Milton at the time. He left a note saying, "I have gone to hell. I hope you and baby will be cared for."

Elwood Quillen Rides Pony To Victory at Chincoteague

Rough Riding Contest Gives Shore Rodeo 'Woolly' Air; Ocean City Coast Guards Demonstrate; 200 Ponies Are Rounded Up

CHINCOTEAGUE, Va., July 30.—Elwood Quillen, owner and rider of Pony, captured top honors in the pony races held over a mile straightaway course here yesterday in conjunction with the annual pony penning.

Five races were held during the afternoon, with Quillen winning the third, fourth and fifth. Mark Daisey, riding Easter, won the opening race and Hamilton Wheatley, riding Joe Boy, took the second.

Rough-Riding Contests

The rough-riding contests attracted large crowds. Many attempts were made to ride the wild ponies, but Wright Young, of Gloucester, Va., was the only contestant to remain on a pony as long as three minutes. Young won a cash prize for the feat.

In the Coast Guard boat races the Fourth district of New York won the two-mile race in surf boats with seven men in the crew. The sixth and seventh districts also competed. Others were brought by boat 25 miles from Hog Island and Cedar Island, at the southern end of the southern end of Chincoteague Island.

League of Nations Group to Sift Plan To Split Palestine

GENEVA, July 30 (AP).—The League of Nations Permanent Commission on Mandates met today to study Great Britain's partition commission's proposal to partition Palestine. This was brought about to ask only a "preliminary opinion."

The unfavorable reception given the project by the British Parliament when it offered to submit the scheme itself until the League Mandates met, and to act together with the opposition of Jews and Arabs alike and a wide divergence of view on the plan itself, offered an unembarrassing "out."

Informed league circles were of the belief Britain would now advocate the plan very ardently in the hope that the Jewish-Arab opposition would end the two peoples to a common ground for an alternative solution of their problems.

This was borne out in reports from Jerusalem which said Arabs and Jews were closer than ever before in the 15 tense years of Britain's mandate over Palestine.

Allen To Urge Tunnel if Md. Span Bill Fails

Delaware Representative To Fight for Bridge To Cross Chesapeake Bay

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Representative William T. Allen, of Delaware, sponsor of a bill for the construction of a bridge across the Chesapeake Bay from Sandy Point to Kent Island, said yesterday if the War Department will not assent to a span at that location, he will urge construction of a tunnel.

The department earlier this week, in a communication to the House Commerce Committee, declined to give its approval to the construction of any bridge between the port of Baltimore and the sea.

Tydings-Radcliffe Bill

The committee had requested the views of the department when it took up consideration of the Tydings-Radcliffe bill, which would authorize the Maryland State Roads Commission to construct a bridge between the two states. Allen, in a letter to a point on the Eastern Shore near Tolchester, with an alternate located from a point near Annapolis to Kent Island.

Mr. Allen said if a bridge cannot be constructed across the bay from the vicinity of Sandy Point "I will favor our efforts toward getting a tunnel; however, this would be more expensive than a bridge. The people on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Delaware are almost one hundred per cent. for a bridge," he declared.

Awaiting Sponsors

Senator Radcliffe, member of the Senate Commerce Committee, is prepared to report the measure to the Senate, but it was said today he was awaiting sponsors of the measure before reporting it to the Senate with the elimination of the Sandy Point site and the proposal for a bridge across the Patapsco River, south of Baltimore. The War Department is definitely opposed to spanning the harbor at this point.
